Forces Now at Coblenz, Germany Under Major General Allen, Will Come Home As Soon As Affairs Are Wound Up and Vessel to Transport Them Is Available—President Deems It Expedient Time to Recall Men.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine was ordered by President Harding today. In announcing this decision the State Department said the president deemed the time expedient for the recall of the forces now at Coblenz. The American forces remaining in that area number about 1,000 men and it was indicated that the withdrawal order would be carried out as soon as the American commander, Major General Allen, could make the arrangements for winding up finally the affairs of the army of occupation.

A resolution favoring such withdrawal was adopted by the Senate Saturday but it was not apparent how far it had contributed to the president's decision or how far the administration had been influenced by the situation brought about by the French government in the Ruhr valley. The date of actual withdrawal of the forces will be left to the war department where it was said that American evacuation of Coblenz soon would be conducted in orderly fashion.

Officials of the State and War Departments refused to make any explanation of the decision to recall Major General Allen, and his forces other than to repeat that it was considered expedient to complete at this time the American withdrawal from Europe. As an indication that no time would be lost, it was made known the transport St. Mihiel would leave New York today or tomorrow to bring home the bulk of the Rhine forces. A few small detachments will be left for a short time to close out final settlement involved in the withdrawal.

Prince Rumored Seeking Freedom From D. C. Girl
PARIS, Jan. 9.—It is reported here that Prince Boncompagni is enroute to the Vatican in the form of a priest to secure the assent of the Papal body to the annulment of his marriage to the former Margaret Draper, of Washington.

Boncompagni is one of the Vatican princes, which probably will militate against his appeal.

An American society in Paris has long been cognizant of the marital difficulties of the Boncompagni, as the Prince and former Washington beauty have been living apart many years.

The reasons for the seeking of the annulment by the Prince are considered twofold. First he is said to consider his continued "friendly separation" incompatible with the dignity of a Prince of Rome. The second reason, whispered here, is that his friends say he wants to marry again.

Covington Case Is Heard By State Court Of Appeals
The Virginia Supreme court of appeals yesterday at Richmond heard argument in a case involving the question as to whether the Circuit court of Pittsylvania county had jurisdiction to try a charge of murder where the person inflicting the mortal wound was in Henry county and the person receiving the wound was in Pittsylvania county but died therefrom in North Carolina.

The case was appealed from the Circuit court of Pittsylvania by D. C. Covington, a deputy sheriff of Rockingham county, N. C., who was convicted in that tribunal and given a term of seven years in the Virginia penitentiary when tried on the charge of fatally shooting George Bryant, a fugitive from Spray, N. C. Covington, it was contended by the defense, was standing just over the boundary line in Henry county when he fired the fatal shot at Bryant who was in Pittsylvania county. Although shot through the head, Bryant did not actually die until after he was taken into North Carolina for treatment. In the brief of the Commonwealth prepared by J. D. Hank, Jr., assistant attorney general of Virginia, it was contended that the crime was committed in Pittsylvania county, for as he pointed out, there is overwhelming weight of authority to the effect that where one shoots and kills another the homicide does not occur where the shot is fired but where the bullet takes effect.

C. B. Smith's Trial Is Due Tomorrow
The preliminary hearing of C. B. Smith who is charged with the slaying of J. M. Smith with a violation of the State law in connection with the recent seizure below the city of a box car containing 730 gallons of liquor, will be held tomorrow morning at ten o'clock before Magistrate R. S. Pitt at Schoolfield. The hearing was to have taken place on Monday but a continuance was granted owing to the reported illness of the accused who is at liberty on bond.

In the meantime county officers and State prohibition agents have been working on other angles of the case and it was learned today it would not be surprising if there are not some new developments and possible arrests within a few days. The nature of these developments is being zealously guarded by the law enforcement agents.

—L. R. Wyatt and R. B. Rodgers are spending a few days in Washington and New York.

No Decision Is Reached By Two Party Committees
No definite decision was reached at the meeting of the county and city Democratic committees which met at noon today at Chatham. The meeting was called to determine whether or not a nomination for the vacancy in the 11th district senatorial district should be made and if so by what means.

When the meeting was called to order by Chairman Edwin Reid, of the county committee it was found that the Danville committee did not have a quorum and so no final action could be taken. The county committee, however, was well represented and went on to the city committee in the action of the county committee then a convention will be held and district meetings will be ordered. If the city committee does not agree the state chairman will be called upon to referee the different views of the committees.

Building Corp'n. Borrows $200,000 To Finish Temple

At the annual meeting of the Masonic Building Corporation, held in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon and with a decisive majority of the stock represented personally or by proxy, the corporation was unanimously authorized to negotiate a loan of $200,000 from the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company at a per centum interest per annum, the funds thus derived to be utilized in completing the payment of the contractors and supply contractors on the construction of the ten-story office-building and Masonic Temple at Main and Union streets.

In order to comply fully and exactly with all the legal requirements, the stockholders under the guidance of the corporation's attorney, Hon. Eugene Withers, appeared to make a record of the action, but by and by the action desired was legally completed and the negotiation of the loan is but a matter of a few days.

Hon. H. O. Korns, past grand master of Masons and for fifty years a member of the craft, presided, and S. C. Cunningham was secretary. In addition to voting authorization of the loan, which is confidently hoped to pay off in ten years, the stockholders elected or re-elected its old officers and directors. These are A. B. Carrington, president; J. T. Catlin, vice president; P. E. Conway, S. T. Owens, Plummer Wiseman and Eugene Withers, together with the president and vice-president, directors.

The actual cost of the construction of the beautiful ten-story terra cotta and concrete structure with the materials labor and everything entering into it is approximately $550,000. The site and other expenses will aggregate nearly $200,000 more, making the whole investment total approximately $750,000. The contractors are now pushing the work of completing the interior, with its stores, arcade entrance and booths, and some 188 modern offices, single or en suite, and it is definitely forecast that the entire building will be ready for use and occupancy by March 1st.

The blue-lodge room on the north-western corner of the ninth floor is a spacious and beautiful room, with highly ornate interior finish. On the same floor and occupying the southern corner thereof is the commandery room of the Knight Templars, while the chapter room providing quarters for the Royal Arch, is on the eastern corner of the same floor. On the tenth floor and that above the 1000th, is a beautiful hall or auditorium with proscenium and arch and entrances from either side. Just over the commandery room is the refectory or banquet hall, providing ample room for large dinner parties and festivities.

Four of the six stories have been occupied and all of them will be soon as they are ready for tenants. About half of the building has been leased, and in a few months it is anticipated that all of it will be.

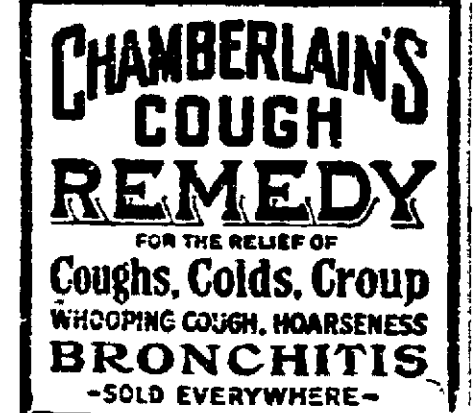

6-YEAR-OLD BOY HAS MARVELOUS ESCAPE TUESDAY

James Wilkins, 6-year-old son of Lester Wilkins of Schoolfield, was run over by a Cadillac touring car yesterday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock near the intersection of Main and Union streets. The boy escaped serious injury or even death is considered marvelous, as both wheels of the heavy machine ran over his body.

Four stories told by a number of eyewitnesses appear to indicate that the accident was unavoidable as far as the driver of the car was concerned. A number of youths, including James Wilkins, were running on the back of a wagon. For a moment several of them jumped off, the Wilkins boy among them, and ran across the street. Just at this instant the car approached at a reasonable rate of speed. The Wilkins boy ran directly under the wheels of the car, was knocked down and both wheels of the car passed over him, before the driver could bring his machine to a stop.

The Wilkins lad was picked up and carried into Dr. L. O. Crumpler's office nearby and given a careful examination for possible injuries. No bones were broken and scarcely a bruise could be found and the boy complained of no internal hurt and was able to walk around. However, he was carried to his home in a car by H. E. Spessard, of the Schoolfield, where he is being kept under the supervision of his parents to keep him in bed until further examination could be made.

The name of the driver of the Cadillac car could not be learned last night, though it is known that the car is used as a taxi.

COUE.

That's a question I have been cold-bloodedly asking myself ever since I have been attending the far-famed Emile Coue auto-suggestion clinics here.

And I have concluded, therefore, that I am not alone in the desire to help people.

If he soaked people in a sea of his services, Americans would wink the other eye and say, "That's all."

But he doesn't charge any fees. Every person who comes to the clinic is welcomed and every person gets the same treatment and gets it for nothing.

If one wants to, he can buy a little French book in which Coue explains his system. But the book isn't pushed on you and its cost is only two francs. The 15 cents you pay for it just about pays for paper and printing.

Also old Marie, Coue's maid, has on sale pictures of Coue in his clinic with his patients. But here, again, the price is so nominal that it merely pays for photographing and paper.

Like Religious Leader.

Perhaps the better way to get at the secret of Coue is to compare him to the founder of new religion. The latter wants all the world to have the happiness he is sure it will bring to them.

That is the way with Coue. He is sure he has got hold of a great truth which other men have appreciated only in part. He is sure he has invented a formula and a method by which suffering humanity can make the most out of it. And he brings to his work the passion, the faith and the fervor of the evangelist. Only it must always be made clear that in Coueism there is nothing in the way of a new religion or cult.

Coue finds the doctors "agreeing with him." Distinguished medical men of France, Switzerland, Belgium and Great Britain have recognized the value of the work he is doing.

Coue himself thinks every physician can profitably use auto-suggestion in his practice.

One of the goals he has set for himself on his present visit to America is to interest the medical profession of the United States in what he is doing and has done. He is confident, if they watch him work and observe the results he obtains, that they will be friendly and not hostile.

They may even convert and experience here, I would say, that Coue's greatest value to people is that he brings a health gospel of hope and optimism instead of despair and pessimism.

He doesn't know how teachers of the Coue method will succeed, but Coue himself simply radiates cheer. And it's contagious, that and the belief in the power of the imagination, the unconscious mind, over the body.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Jan. 9.—Juan Ponce, Knight of Leon, who on Easter Day, 1512, reached the coast of Florida near the present site of St. Augustine in search of the fabled Fountain of Youth, will return to the Land of Flowers.

The oldest city in the United States is planning a beautiful historical pageant in period costumes. It will open on April 4 with the landing of Ponce de Leon and his retinue of Spanish adventurers from an ancient galleon, while from the beach the Indians marvel at the white-winged bird which has brought these strange gods across the waters.

Arrangements have been completed to present a historically accurate three-day pageant in period costumes of the Spanish, French and British soldiery of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Colorful Pageant

Flags, helmets, pikes, broadswords, Spanish capes and feathered hats, bandoleers and mantillas, costumes of silks, satins and lace, and representations of Indian garb have all been specially designed. Thousands of dollars have been expended in careful costuming and for other equipment, including the ancient galleon, which Ponce de Leon and his retinue will land on the first day of the celebration. Special songs about St. Augustine and Ponce de Leon have been composed. Dr. Andrew Anderson, preparing for the erection of a massive statue in one of the city parks. It will be cast after the statue of Ponce de Leon in Porto Rico, where the remains of the famous explorer lie, and will be dedicated on the opening of the celebration.

The French, Spanish, English soldiery and the cavalry companies, also the Indians, mounted and unmounted, will be provided by various local organizations of St. Augustine. In fact, every man, woman and child in St. Augustine is taking some part in the preparations for the celebration.

Music will be provided by four bands. Cadets from the State University and troops will take part in the celebration.

Three-Day Celebration

Next April 4 will be Ponce de Leon Day, depicting the landing of Ponce de Leon on the shores of Florida, the Indian battles and the subjugation of the Great Inconquerable chief. April 5 will be Menendez Day, commemorating the founding of St. Augustine by Pedro Menendez of St. Augustine by Pedro Menendez de Aviles on September 8, 1565.

April 6 will witness the celebration, "Under Four Flags"—Spanish, French and English—and the final transfer of sovereignty to the United States, when the Stars and Stripes were raised on Fort Marion on February 19, 1821.

Yacht and motor boat races and athletic contests will vary the program.

A large part of the historical celebration will be staged about grim old Fort Marion, which was commenced in 1638 and completed in 1766.

St. Augustine was sacked by Sir Francis Drake in 1586, and at various periods in its colorful history it repassed between English and Spanish sovereignty.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Madame Petrova to Appear Here in "The White Peacock," Jan. 17th.

Modernity is emboldened through the story of Petrova's new play, "The White Peacock," which comes to The Majestic Theatre Wednesday, Jan. 17th. Madame Petrova, author, actress, linguist, herself playing the leading role.

Petrova's play begins where "Nora" leaves off, with the decision of the self-styled modern woman to live her own life yet allowing the dictates of heart and brain to be her justification. Instead of treating her subject scientifically, Petrova has delved deep into the Romantic school, mounted, will be pitiful lover in a walling minor key, the heavy aroma of orange trees, night-gales and moonlight and the rich purple of semi-tropical bougainvillea. In the midst of this appealing setting steps forth the statue-like beautiful Revette, portrayed by Petrova herself, in her matchless manner. Revette di Ribera Santollos is the wife of the aspiring Don Miguel, a Spanish nobleman who has been unjustly sentenced to accept. Being an artist, she refuses to return home, and she even turns a deaf ear to his Spanish lady, which would compel her to do so. Don Caesar di Mendoza Gonzales, an escaped convict convicted of the murder of his father when Don Miguel was Chief Justice, comes to Revette's studio in the dead of night seeking revenge. Instead of murdering Revette, he falls in love with her and at her request becomes her model. Don Miguel recognizes him and from this point complications ensue. The love scenes are particularly captivating, often verging on tragedy, but terminating at the wished-for finale.

Prices, 50c to $2.50. Seat sale opens Saturday.

Had Miraculous Escape Tuesday

Frank Myers, a painter, had a miraculous escape yesterday morning when his coat became caught in a large pulley at the Schoolfield Mills and his body was whirled around the wheel a number of times, it was said, before the machinery could be stopped. Myers was rushed to Edinburg hospital by persons who judged by the manner in which his body was swung around the pulley that he must have been seriously injured, but fortunately Myers was quickly stopped, and it was soon learned that the man was not seriously hurt.

He sustained one broken arm, the other being dislocated, injuries to the legs and bruises about the body. It was stated at the hospital last night that, although Myers was suffering much pain with his arm, it was not believed that he had suffered any serious internal injuries.

Myers was engaged in repainting Number 4 weave room. He was standing on a scaffold, painting the ceiling at the time of the accident. In some manner his overall jacket was caught in a pulley and he was jerked bodily from the scaffold and carried around the wheel a number of revolutions. The machinery was quickly stopped, and Myers was removed from his perilous position. Had his clothing torn and caused his body to be hurled against other machinery, the accident would have resulted. The accident occurred about 11:30 o'clock. It is said that Myers has only been living here a short time.

"Ponce Deleon" To Re-Visit In Florida Again

ST. AUGUSTINE, Jan. 9.—Juan Ponce, Knight of Leon, who on Easter Day, 1512, reached the coast of Florida near the present site of St. Augustine in search of the fabled Fountain of Youth, will return to the Land of Flowers.

The oldest city in the United States is planning a beautiful historical pageant in period costumes. It will open on April 4 with the landing of Ponce de Leon and his retinue of Spanish adventurers from an ancient galleon, while from the beach the Indians marvel at the white-winged bird which has brought these strange gods across the waters.

Arrangements have been completed to present a historically accurate three-day pageant in period costumes of the Spanish, French and British soldiery of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Colorful Pageant

Flags, helmets, pikes, broadswords, Spanish capes and feathered hats, bandoleers and mantillas, costumes of silks, satins and lace, and representations of Indian garb have all been specially designed. Thousands of dollars have been expended in careful costuming and for other equipment, including the ancient galleon, which Ponce de Leon and his retinue will land on the first day of the celebration. Special songs about St. Augustine and Ponce de Leon have been composed. Dr. Andrew Anderson, preparing for the erection of a massive statue in one of the city parks. It will be cast after the statue of Ponce de Leon in Porto Rico, where the remains of the famous explorer lie, and will be dedicated on the opening of the celebration.

The French, Spanish, English soldiery and the cavalry companies, also the Indians, mounted and unmounted, will be provided by various local organizations of St. Augustine. In fact, every man, woman and child in St. Augustine is taking some part in the preparations for the celebration.

Bootleggers Sold To Theologians

Made Specialty of Supplying Ministerial Students of 'Holiness Church'—Kentucky Gang Smashed.

Wilmore, Ky., Jan. 9.—A gang of bootleggers which had for its special customers students of Asbury College, the leading ministerial institution for "The Holiness Church" in the United States, has been broken up. Four men, said to have been members of the gang, are under arrest; other suspects have disappeared.

H. E. Parrott, a former United States soldier who was in the American forces in Siberia, is credited with having brought about the downfall of the bootleggers after prayer meetings and special investigations by the college authorities had been in vain.

Following information received by Parrott, the Federal authorities took part in the proceedings. A large posse under their direction swooped down upon the home of E. C. Watson, the town's best-known blacksmith, while he was a prayer meeting with his family.

When accused of operating a bootleggers' headquarters at his home and shop Watson protested his innocence. He said that the bootleggers apparently had taken advantage of his custom of attending prayer meeting and had broken into his place during his absence. The authorities say that Watson later confessed and declared that he had gone to prayer meeting as a blind.

The town authorities and the college authorities noticed some weeks ago that whisky running was on the increase and that the students were buying the bootlegged products. Everything was done in an effort to apprehend the bootlegger, but without success. Prayer meetings were held in the town churches and in the college, but there was no decrease in the sale of whisky.

Parrott then tackled the job. He began his detective work. He found that many students who visited a "hot-dog" restaurant sober went away not sober. The bootleggers' shop and a garage a short distance from the college were bootlegging centers. The invasion by the Federal authorities followed.

Through the heaviest hailstorm in years fell, but Wilmore, metaphorically speaking, is as dry as a bone. A public thanks service will be held to celebrate the smashing of the bootleg band.

Few Veterans In Carolina Assembly

(By The Associated Press.)
RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 10.—The position of veteran legislators in the present North Carolina general assembly seems to be conspicuous because of the fewness of their number. According to Representative W. R. Matthews, only six members in the session have been coming without a break since 1917. In the senate there is but one member who has seen continuous service since that time, and one representative has the distinction of having been in the assembly more than twenty years ago.

House members, together with Mr. Matthews, who have served since 1917 are E. W. Phelan of Rockingham; R. A. Doughton, of Alleghany; H. N. Cox, of Forsyth; C. G. Wright, of Guilford; and Blaine Coffey, of Watauga county. The latter is a republican, of the fourth district. E. W. Phelan is the lone senator since 1917, and Walter Murphy, representative of Rowan county, remains the other record breaker, having served more than twenty years ago.

Henry Van Dyke Quits Princeton

Author, at Age of 70, Resigns Professorship of English Literature—Says He Is Not Tired.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 9.—Henry Van Dyke, noted author and diplomat and one of the most distinguished members of the Princeton faculty, today tendered his resignation as a member of that body. He gave as his reason for resigning the fact that he wished to make way for a younger man. Dr. Van Dyke was wartime minister to the Netherlands.

Dr. Van Dyke recently passed his seventieth birthday and has held his present position as Murray Professor of English literature since 1899. He was graduated from Princeton in 1872 and expects to celebrate his fiftieth reunion next June by a dinner of all his old classes.

Dr. Van Dyke's loss will be keenly felt in the English department, as his course in nineteenth century prose is one of the most popular courses in Princeton. About 250 members of this senior class take the course.

Dr. Van Dyke said he had no plans for the future other than to devote his entire time to reading and writing. In reply to questions, he said: "I am resigning in accordance with a conversation he had with me last spring. But I am waiting to hear from him."

"I am not ill and not tired. In fact, I have never enjoyed my work with a class more than this year and the students seem to stand it fairly well. Few sleep and none faint away, but I am quietly slipping out to make room for a younger man and hope to find other useful work to do somewhere as long as inclination and strength are given. There are always half a dozen stories that I want to write."

During Dr. Van Dyke's regime as Murray professor of English literature, the preceptorial system has been inaugurated. This was while Woodrow Wilson was president of the university and under his direct initiative. In commenting upon this feature of the Princeton method of teaching, Dr. Van Dyke said:

"Of the preceptorial system here I have expressed very high opinion in a practical way as well as theoretically. I am deeply attached to the English department at Princeton."

Deliveries On Market Light

Sales of leaf tobacco in Danville which were resumed on the local market yesterday following the suspension for Christmas were unusually light. Sales in the auction warehouses lasted for about three-quarters of an hour most of the leaf sold being of the shipped variety. Auction house managers questioned concurred in the statement that there was no depression in the prices offered for the various grades from those obtaining at the time when the market closed for Christmas. Some of the better types were in slightly more active demand.

Deliveries at the Co-Operative Marketing Warehouse plants here were heavy yesterday but were lighter today. It was estimated that about 150,000 pounds of tobacco were delivered during the course of Tuesday. It is reported that the epidemic of influenza is seriously affecting the co-operative warehouse forces on the nearby markets. Some of the attaches in Danville are ill. At Gretna several are too ill to be about and Danville has been called on to furnish two men for that market during the recent emergency.

Deliveries in Danville are expected to be light until illness has passed until moisture-weather sets in.

It is understood that when the season is over the co-operative officials will make the amount of tobacco delivered in Danville. It is anticipated that the market as a whole will register between forty and forty-five million pounds of leaf.

Mrs. R. H. Pruitt Dies At Mayfield

The funeral was conducted yesterday of Mrs. Isabel Jane Pruitt, wife of R. H. Pruitt, who succumbed on Monday at her home in Mayfield, N. C., from pneumonia, resulting from influenza. Mrs. Pruitt was 78 years of age and for the past year she had been an invalid as a result of a fall in which she sustained a fractured hip. Several other members of her family are seriously ill with pneumonia and influenza in the home. Mrs. Pruitt, who before marriage was Miss Ferrell, was born in Rockingham and far from the place she died. She lived her entire life there. She was a member of the Primitive Baptist church, joining the Dan River church in 1885 and being a consecrated and useful member until advancing age impaired her usefulness. The Pruitt is survived by six of the ten children born to her. They are: W. F. Pruitt, Mayfield; R. H. Pruitt, Jr., Schoolfield; W. A. Pruitt, Mayfield; J. P. Pruitt, Mayfield; Mrs. W. T. Ward, Mayfield; and Mrs. R. N. Williams, Danville. She leaves a brother, E. A. Ferrell, of Ruffin, N. C.

The funeral was conducted at the home yesterday evening by Revs. J. E. Wilson and J. F. Spangler, interment being made in the old Ferrell burial ground about half a mile away.

Russia In Need Of Soviet Tutors

(By The Associated Press.)
MOSCOW, Jan. 10.—Preparation of the young men who are about to enter the arena of life, so that the Soviet government may draw from among them not only Bolshevik teachers but also Bolshevik engineers, is the urgent task of the day in Russia.

Commissar of Education Lunacharsky recently in an address to the fourth All Russian Conference of Educational Workers in Moscow, the commissar discussed the needs of education in this country today, dwell upon the improved outlook for the future, and declared that the retreat on the education front should be considered as ended.

"We must count on the students of today—the Bolshevik builders of life—to supply those who were exhausted and worn out in the Czar's dungeons and by the storms of recent years," he said. "We have now, a splendid student body which has been recruited from the ranks of the workers and peasants. The working class and the peasantry should create their own intellectuals. The new students are superior to the old students of other days."

"No matter how deficient may be the theoretical preparation of our present students, it should be remembered that in the pre-revolutionary days the colleges presented to the universities an extremely undesirable element of youth, as was attested by the statements of the old professors. We have admitted into the university here 20,000 new young men who are sympathetic toward us and who represent a creative force, capable in the near future, of cooperating with us in our work. This will be a real mass power of a high intellectual and moral order, allied with the working masses by the closest ties of common descent. They will be the standard bearers of new Russia."

Anglo-French Break

Germans Face Invasion

Problem of Turkey

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
(Special to The Bee)

HE war damage claimant against Germany far in arrears, France is preparing definitely to seize German territory and wealth to pay her bill.

In a military way, not much remains for the French to do, except to begin the actual movement of troops. Her army already in readiness.

There seems no present likelihood that the invasion will be delayed much beyond that date.

What About the Germans?

There is an element which favors armed resistance. There may be some of it, but probably not on an organized national scale. It is not, of course, the French will suppress it quickly, probably dealing with it very severely. The Berlin government, knowing that England disapproves of the French plan and hoping America does too, is more likely to confine itself to protests to London and Washington, in hope that indirect pressure from these quarters will force France to change her policy.

A greater danger is that the French invasion, which naturally will cause violent excitement among the Germans, may cause internal uprisings, led by the ultra-radicals, such as will endanger the government itself and, maybe, involve wide-spread destruction.

At the best, there will be great business disorganization in Germany.

Britain and France Break

THE French determination to use force against Germany led England and France to part company.

The English, French, Polish and Belgian premiers conferred last week on the collecting war damages from the Germans.

At the "premiers' conference," Italy and Belgium sided with her against England, but neither kingdom nor Belgium can help her out in a money way. England is Europe's great financial power. Moreover, the English believe, at any rate, that the United States agree with them in looking askance upon France's policy of force against Germany.

It isn't to be assumed that either England or America is unfriendly to France, but only that the former certainly is not so friendly to her in the opinion of many people. The French are making a mistake in their German policy and will not want to help them so long as they stick to it.

With the French franc and the Italian lire already of very doubtful value in the world's money markets, financiers predict that these countries will be brought so low that they will be unwelcome of disregarding the English and American opinion of their judgment. Of course if a large sum can be wrung from Germany it may make a difference, but the financiers doubt it.

of a United States Senate resolution in favor of recalling the small American force which, ever since the war ended, has remained on German soil. It had been suggested previously that the government was pretty apt to do this anyway, even without this expression from the Senate.

With soldiers in the very territory it is expected the French will want to occupy, if they go ahead with their program, it is easy to see that the United States might find it hard to avoid showing leanings one way or the other, especially in the event of fighting.

The Senate, in acting, expressly disavowed the least feeling of unfriendliness toward any European country.

Hughes' Plan Yet Waits.
ABOUT the only thing that still seems to offer the slightest chance of smoothing out the difficulty over German war damages is Secretary of State Hughes' suggestion that a commission of disinterested financial experts be formed to make an inventory of Germany's assets and decide how much it's possible for her to pay.

It is believed England, Italy, Belgium and Germany are favorable to the idea.

France, however, hasn't given any hint. Her break with England hardly indicates that she will agree. Still, there's the late possibility that she may do so, at the last minute.

Turks Standing Pat.
THE outlook between Turkey and England continues very threatening. It is the general expectation, in view of the Anglo-French break over Germany, that France will tell England she cannot co-operate with the latter if she lets matters go on to a clash with Turkey. This probably has stiffened the Turks' position.

There is this hopeful feature: The Turks, while "standing pat" on all important matters, seem inclined to make some concessions, and the English public is bitterly opposed to war with them.

RENAULT NAMES A MRS. LEWIS AS RENTER OF GEM THEFT FLAT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. Jan. 6.—Francis Renault, female impersonator who calls himself "The Slave of Fashion," added today to his account given last night of his acquaintance with Mrs. C. P. Hugo Schoellkopf, who was robbed of her jewels in the apartment of Frank Barrett Carman in New York City, told further of the renting by Carman of the second apartment, in which Mrs. Schoellkopf was robbed, and of her participation in gay parties. He spoke of her by her first name, Irene, but said he never had met her husband.

Renault said he was occupying the fifth floor apartment at No. 64 West 32d street with Carman, when a woman, who appeared to be about thirty-five and wore an expensive fur coat, went to the house with a man several years younger and inquired about the fourth floor apartment, which Carman had advertised.

"Frank went to the door to see them," Renault said. "The woman did all the talking. In fact, she talked so much that I went into the hall and listened to the conversation on the floor below. I did not make myself seen because I had on my Sheik robe."

"There was no question about that woman having a business head. I did not get a good view of her, but she was a large woman. Frank let her have the apartment. It was about the 8th or 10th of December. I believe he mentioned that her name was Mrs. Lewis."

Renault said he appeared much older than the man with her and he said they were man and wife.

"For several days I saw nothing of them. Then three men began to go in and out of the apartment. Frank said they were all right, probably Lewis and two men friends. Frank was always free and easy. He lost jewelry several times. Once in Miami he lost some. Then he lost an expensive cigarette case in the 52d street apartment."

"I believe he collected insurance on one of his losses.

later and an attempt had been made to get into my trunk.

"Irene," Mrs. Schoellkopf—was always flying around with jewels on her. Many a night she and Frank waited for me after the show at the Winter Garden. She believes every one is all right."

"One night at the show she wanted me to go on with her pearls. She frequently came to see me there. She brought a huge box of candy for the chorist girls and every one in the company knew her."

While I was ill in the apartment she brought me fruit. She likes to be around young people. She drank very little wine. Talk about my having a spat with Mrs. Frank over Mrs. Schoellkopf is all nonsense.

"Frank gave up vaudeville after he met Mrs. Schoellkopf at a tea. He had given up interior decorating and was studying art."

"When he went to Europe with the Schoellkopfs I was in Chicago. In August I took his apartment from him. Mrs. Edward Ackerman. She had just been married and when the Schoellkopfs returned from abroad we celebrated her wedding at Mrs. Schoellkopf's rooms in the Ritz. Mrs. Schoellkopf was not there. I have never met Mrs. Frank since he was a wonderful man a good fellow and just like a brother."

"J. Brown Pierce of Providence, an elderly man and a good sport, had Frank as private secretary for five years and Frank sold most of his property for him."

"Frank and I first had an apartment in the old Albany at 2d and Broadway in the old city. He paid $210 a month for the two apartments in 52d street, rented one for $150 and a hall room for $50, and besides, I paid him $100 so he could make money."

"Mrs. Schoellkopf and Frank were talking of coming here for the Mummers' parade that was to have been held New Year's I never heard of the parade. The parade was held and I have been at the party, but I had heard Mrs. Schoellkopf speak of Mr. Englehardt. They must have been friends of hers."

Robber Who Raided Harvey's Hunted By Washington Police

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The police of Washington and near-by Virginia are still looking for the hold-up man who dropped into Harvey's famous restaurant on Pennsylvania avenue last midnight, calmly ordered the cashier to turn over the contents of the cash drawer on pain of death, and got away in a waiting automobile.

Gordon Brown, cashier and cigar clerk, was standing behind the counter shortly before midnight, when a man walked to the counter and laid down a card bearing the warning, "Get it and keep quiet," and the letters "H. R. T. The man covered Brown with what looked like an army revolver. Brown first emptied one of the double drawers, which contained more than $100 in bills. The hold-up man demanded he empty the other drawer and "get it more on." The cashier did not hesitate.

The robber carried away $112 in bills in one hand and covered the late diner with his revolver, threatening to shoot any one who moved or made an outcry.

Three of the male diners recovered their wits in time to reach the door and see the robber leap into the machine, which immediately sped away. They jumped into another automobile and gave chase, following the speeding car until it crossed the highway bridge into Virginia.

Charles E. End, proprietor of Harvey's, witnessed the hold-up but was unarmed and helpless. He stood by until the robber backed out of the restaurant, and then rushed to the telephone to notify the police. United States marshal and detectives were sent to Harvey's at once, but before they took up the chase the robber and his companion were across the Potomac.

TRANSPLANT SHEEP'S KIDNEY TO WOMAN POISON VICTIM

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—An unusual operation—the transplanting of a sheep's kidney to a human body—was performed Dec. 30 at Bellevue hospital in an effort to save the life of a toxic Roberton poison victim, it became known today, when the report of an autopsy performed on Mrs. Roberton was made public. She died yesterday when complications resulting from the poisoning, but not attributed to the operation, set in.

Dr. Harold Newshoff, who performed the operation, declined to discuss it for fear of revealing that he intended writing an article about it for the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Medical observers said the operation was considered a success and that one of Mrs. Roberton's kidneys, which previously had failed to function, began to do so again, although only slightly. The transplanted kidney also seemed to work, it was said.

DAVIS CASE PASSED.

RICHMOND, Va. Jan. 2.—The case of L. H. Davis, under sentence of death for the murder of his wife, was passed by the Supreme Court of appeals at the opening session of the winter term today. Davis' case is delayed pending the report of a lunacy committee appointed by the governor to inquire into his sanity. The first day of the court term was consumed in the call of the docket. The civil docket probably will be reached tomorrow.

THE WHOLESOME BAKING POWDER

ONE POUND RUMFORD BAKING POWDER

For the Game's Sake

By LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1932, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—While the golf bodies of England and the United States are dallying with the project of formulating a needed universal code of golf rules the tennis associations of the world have gone ahead and adopted rules which will be everywhere recognized as uniform.

With such an example set by a great sister sport, one wonders whether the United States Golf Association, the Western body and St. Andrews in Great Britain do not feel just a little envious, if indeed, they would not own to a sense of humiliation under the pressure of shrewdly put questions. The two great American organizations agreed months ago that a set of uniform rules was desirable, yet the British golfers who visited this country in the past few weeks have been permitted to part with nothing tangible accomplished in this respect. Yet some of these gentlemen were prominent in the royal and ancient club councils.

Of course eventually there will be brought about by definite legislation an absolute unity in the rules of golf the world over. But no one can say when this happy event will take place. It is all apparently the officers of the U. S. G. A. One might suggest that the way to do this thing is—well, just to do it.

Look at what the tennis crowd did. They held a meeting of the international rules committee in London last month at which 14 nations or independent colonies were represented. It is hardly to be doubted that the new regulations will be accepted by the United States Lawn Tennis Association when it holds its annual meeting in New York the first of next month.

It would seem to be as simple a matter for delegates of the golfing bodies of the world to meet in amiable concord as for the great tennis associations to do so.

CAMP STRONG FOR MICHIGAN

ANN ARBOR, Jan. 9.—Eleven of Michigan's football stars have been honored with places on Walter Camp's All-America team. Only four teams, Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania have received more nominations than Michigan. For years those teams were known as the "Big Four" and practically dominated football.

Camp has selected All-America teams for 33 years and has included 33 western stars in his mythical lineups, five on southern teams and two on far western. The other 323 selections represented eastern teams. Michigan, with 11 selections has one of the west's selections to its credit.

Willie Heston was the first Michigan player selected. That was in 1903. Harry Kipke of this year's eleven was the honored selection for 1932.

NO CLOSE PLAYS

SAYS NEW UMP
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—In Bill Guthrie, who broke into the American League last fall, the umpire has another umpire who insists there are no close plays.

The late Sisk O'Loughlin always was a disciple of that theory. With Sisk the runner was either out, or safe. There was never such a thing as a close play. If he thought so, he failed to admit it.

Guthrie works along the same line of reasoning as Sisk as to the matter of close plays. Guthrie's answer to such a query is always the same.

"There are no close plays, they are either 'G's' or 'D's'. With the 'dis' he raises the hand to indicate out, with the 'dat' he lowers the palm of the hand to indicate safe. Guthrie, however, does not argue that he never missed in his life, as did Sisk. With Guthrie it is always a question of how many he didn't miss.

Third Base Only Weak Spot In Brown's Lineup

(Special to The Bee)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 10.—Third base must be fortified if the St. Louis Browns are to be a pennant contender in 1933. Bobby Quinn, who runs the Browns for Phil Ball and Lee Tohl, who does the managing, are well aware of that fact.

Frank Ellerbe filled the position very acceptably last season until forced to retire because of an injury to his knee. It later developed that Ellerbe's trouble was merely a return of an injury suffered playing football during his college days.

For three months, Ellerbe nursed the knee back into condition, but in all probability it will slow him up considerably. The heads of the Browns are working on that assumption in feeling that third base is the one position on the team that is not up to snuff.

The veteran Eddie Foster, who filled in so brilliantly, says there isn't a chance that he will try to play the bag. Foster insists his legs simply will not stand up under the strain.

Rumor has it that the Browns are dicker with the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast League for Charley Deal. Last season, Deal had a better fielding average in the Coast League than Willie Kamm, for whom Chicago is reported to have paid $100,000.

Deal has had major league experience in both the American and Na-

New Umpire Will Taste Of Own Medicine

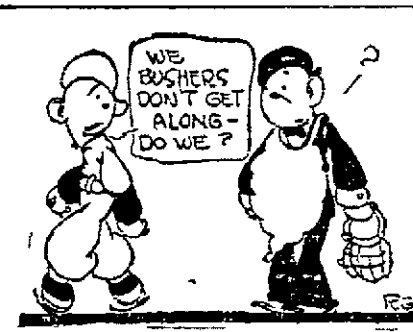

(Special to The Bee)
WHEN Clarence Rowland was manager of the Chicago White Sox he often disagreed with the umpires in a most strenuous manner. He will get a chance to work in the American League next season. Wonder how he will like it when the athletes begin to disagree with him?

Ed W. A. former White Sox pitcher, tried umpiring last year. He gave it up in midseason, with the remark that it was all tears and no cheers.

About seven years ago the baseball world was startled by the announcement that Clarence Rowland, a bush league manager, would lead the White Sox.

During his major league career, Rowland won a pennant and a world series for Chicago. That was in 1917. He passed out of the major league picture in 1918. Since then he has managed clubs in Milwaukee and Columbus with varying success.

When Rowland broke into the American League he was always referred to as the "busher" by the players and umpires.

Umpire Dick Nallin was the first umpire to put him out of a game. Nallin had only been in the league a short time himself. After getting the state from Nallin, Rowland delayed his exit.

"Well, what's the matter? Why don't you go on your way?" snarled Nallin.

"Merely disappointed," replied Rowland. "I knew I was going to get put out of many a ball game, but I never looked for you to pick on me. I felt sure we bushers would get along very well."

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—What with Joe Lynch giving every tollie the idea of having lined up over him who the light is bright and the evenings lengthy and the rest of the boys being slightly puffed, there isn't much left of the bantamweight division these particular days. Merely the usual set of diffident, self-conscious amateurs, who believe that talk is cheap and therefore use it freely.

A year ago Johnny Bull was champion. Today he is out of the ring altogether, a broken little man bordering on the old age. Lynch is the present champion by the grace of mere circumstance. He is either through or full Montana is wearing a layaway.

The best of the present-day crop are Irish Johnny Cuttin and Pancho Villa who is not a bantam at all. Pancho is the flyweight champion, out in he ever gets Lynch or his successor into the ring. The latter also will go overseas to the Philippines. Cuttin is only far at best, but he has come along rather rapidly during recent months.

The rest of the headlines, so-called, are Midget Smith, Pat Moore, Joe Burman, Jack Wolfe and Terry Martin. The Midget flashes only one great fight, that against Pete Herman and then subsided peacefully. He is out of the question as a champion. Herman's weight is almost alone and will return to the ring. Wolfe had a penchant for slapping all of them silly a year or so ago, but he has lost the art.

Wolfe, another semi-famous agent, really outscored Pat at the Velodrome last summer and more recently an upstart by the name of Buddy Taylor beat him by a knockout in the Middle West. But Pat Moore.

Neither Martin nor Wolfe could become champion except by the narrowest kind of fluke. They just don't belong. He is still at the peak of his form and could outpoint 30 per cent of the bantams including Lynch, but the Chicagoan is an interesting boxer and may never get a shot at the title because his services are not in demand.

Twelve months ago Jack Sharkey, and Roy Moore were among the leaders of the class. Not now, however. Jack has become an indifferent featherweight, and Roy, only a rough, tough citizen at best, is in retirement.

Frankie Jerome, Carl Duane, Battling Leonard, Danny Lee, George Daly and Charley Goodman are more or less active in the bantamweight class, but few of them are going anywhere.

Louis had a candidate, one Peewee, however, decided to come East to conquer the world and was ill-advised enough to walk right into one of Johnny Curtin's right hand swings. That punch made Curtin and ruined Peewee.

Better Feeling At Conference

(By The Associated Press)
LAUSANNE, Jan. 9.—A distinctly better feeling characterized today's proceedings of the Near East conference. Full agreement has been reached on all points except those of the amnesty, the exemption of Christians in Turkey from military service and extensions of national homelands for the Armenians and Assyrians-Chaldeans.

The expectation is that the first two of these problems will be settled by private negotiations and incorporated in the projected treaty. From the solution of the last named problem appears hopeless, for the moment at least.

Ismet Pasha, chief of the delegation from Ankara, told the conference today that Turkey could not admit of any discussion touching on national homes either for Armenians or the Assyrians-Chaldeans.

"We have a firm conviction," he said in his usual calm and dignified manner, "that the minorities we have left in Turkey for the future will bear all wounds and that everybody in Turkey will work together in peace and tranquility. Our motto is an indivisible and harmonious fatherland."

Marquis Curzon, British foreign secretary, made an eloquent appeal to the Turkish delegates to reconsider the question which he emphasized had an enormous importance from the point of view of world opinion. Both the Armenians and the Assyrians-Chaldeans he said with earnestness had suffered.

GERMAN TOWN IN FAVOR OF LOCAL PROHIBITION

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—A test vote taken on local prohibition in the Westphalian town of Osnabrueck resulted in a 91.3 per cent vote in favor of absolute dryness. 5,445 men and 6,721 women going down against one man and 351 women going on record for the "wet". This result, remarkable as it may be in itself, must never, not be taken as symptomatic for the whole of Germany.

New Prospects Seen For Football Teams

BY WALTER CAMP
(Copyright, 1932, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Readjustment of coaches in opening new prospects for many football teams in 1933. A number of worrisome uncertainties were settled for Pennsylvania and for Washington and Jefferson. John Heisman transferred his activities to Washington and Jefferson and Louis Young, Penn's captain in 1932 was made head coach of the Red and Blue for a period of three years. Naturally, this arrangement put an end to any connection of Heisman with Penn athletics in an advisory capacity such as had been forecast.

Young should be able to do fine work for Penna. particularly if he can gather about him as many possible, some of the men who have been responsible for development of the game at Penn in the past. There have been certain characteristics of former Pennsylvania teams which were dominant factors in turning out champions, no matter what the development of the attack and defense in that particular year.

It has been difficult to amalgamate some of the old elements with the new at Penn and if this problem is solved under Young's regime Pennsylvania should have a strong team next year. Young himself was primarily an end and made his reputation in that position but he also played at half back and knows the back field job. As Tom Davis, who handled the backs, will not return next autumn this is quite essential.

As to Heisman's work at Washington and Jefferson, he was the man who put George Tech on the map and for many years was a leading coach in Southern football. When he came North to Penn he naturally could not bring with him the unquestioning loyalty which he had built up by years of effort in the South, the kind of confidence which makes plays go. But out of the welter of change and new regulations as to shift plays Heisman performed astonishing feats with the material at hand and about all he earned the respect of all those associated with him.

They all wish him well in his new post.

FULWILER SAYS CONDITIONS IN STATE BETTER

(Special to The Register)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—R. A. Fulwiler, Federal Prohibition Agent for Virginia, believes enforcement conditions in the state are improving slowly. He says in a letter to Commissioner R. A. Hayes. He points to the jurisdiction of the territory to be covered and says the force under him is confronted with a gigantic task.

"I feel," says Fulwiler, "that substantial progress by the federal and state forces is being made in checking violations of the prohibition laws. With violation prevailing in almost every county in Virginia, the large mountain areas and with one hundred counties and forty cities to be worked, it can readily be seen that the small number of enforcement agents constituting the Virginia unit are confronted with a gigantic task. I believe conditions in the state are improving slowly but steadily and with an aroused public sentiment of law-abiding citizens, together with the well-trained force that we now have, great strides can be made during the coming year."

On the day this letter was given out to the press, Virginia papers reported the prospective sale of fifty-two automobiles confiscated in one county—Henry County. October, all having been seized with contraband and liquor aboard. As Director Hayes points out, it will take a great force to cover one hundred counties, let alone the cities. If Henry is a fair sample of bootlegger activities.

Good Roads Meet For Roanoke, Va.

ROANOKE, Va. Jan. 9.—The interest in good roads now current in the state causes the Virginia Good Roads Association to expect the convention which it is to hold here on the last three days of this month to be the greatest that it ever has held. Already enough people have either made reservations or have signified their intention of coming to fill the hotels, and the association, through its president, H. C. Elliott, will turn to the Roanoke Association of Commerce for help in asking it to list the names of residents of the city who will accommodate visitors. To give all possible hotel room during the three days the association intends to spread a request to traveling men asking them not to come to Roanoke while the convention is going on.

The program for the convention is not yet complete. However, nearly all the speakers have been engaged. Mr. Elliott said today that they will include Henry G. Shirley, chairman of the Virginia Highway Builders' Association, Thomas F. McDonald, of Washington, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, and C. J. Gore, road supervisor of Halifax County, North Carolina. There are to be several other speakers, including a woman.

Manager Bush Gets Able Assistant In Gibson

(Special to The Bee)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.—Clarke Griffith, owner of the Washington team, is certain that he made a ten strike when he added the veteran catcher, George Gibson, to the Nationals.

Gibson will act as an assistant to Bush, aside from having complete charge of the twirling staff. It is said that Bush intends to leave the development of the pitchers entirely to Gibson.

The Washington club has several promising youngsters on its pitching staff. The recruits, however, have lacked the coaching of a veteran backstop, familiar with all the tricks of the trade. In Gibson Griffith feels that he has the man who will add much strength to the Nationals' pitching staff, because of his capable direction.

Gibson in his day was one of the best catchers in the National League. He made an enviable record with the Pittsburgh club. From Pittsburgh he went to Toronto, in the International League, and managed with success. Then came a chance to handle the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In his first year as a major league manager, Gibson for a time was the most talked about leader in baseball. Going into September he had a seven-game lead for first place, but a series

CLEVER NEW CAPE-FROCK

(Special to The Bee)

ODD and very pretty are the advance models of a new cape-frock shown for southern wear. The back looks like a broad cant, the front like some model of garment—long, fitted, slim, with a shoulder cape caught around the wrist into the semblance of sleeves which are fastened at the wrist, falling from there to the hem of the dress in loose folds. These may be lined with material of some bright color to contrast with the shade of the frock.

Steel Drum Kills Two In Sea Storm

Breaks From Its Lashings
And Crashes Into Fore-castle of Valacia.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The crew of the Anchor Line steamer Valacia, which docked here yesterday, had a thrilling experience during the voyage when a steel drum, two tons in weight, ripped from its lashings by a night wave, crashed down into the forecastle, and seven seamen were crushed to death and seven injured as the drum rolled from wall to wall.

The Valacia, a single stacker, 450 feet long and of 6,325 gross tons register, left London with a general cargo Dec. 22, in command of Captain M. Doyle, for thirty years a sailor. She encountered heavy seas from the English Channel westward.

At 6 o'clock, Dec. 29, just as the watch was changing, the stern reached its height. Nearly half of the crew of sixty-one was in the forecastle, drinking tea, playing cards, sewing and resting.

Suddenly a wave crashed against the starboard bow, a sixty-footer according to Fireman Roland Hanson, who related the experience to a reporter. The wave ripped the drum, wound with steel cable, loose and sent it plunging down the companionway. A catarract of water followed.

The drum broke the ladder into splinters and tore the electric wires. The thirty men in the forecastle found themselves imprisoned in the dark with waters rising, and an unknown fearful something plunging among them.

"We thought we were under water," said Hanson, "and some of us started ripping off our pants so we could swim for it. We didn't have time to wonder. It all happened in a flash."

A quartermaster started for the hatch where the ladder had been, two seamen jumped to his shoulders. After minutes of jockeying in their prison, one scrambled up on deck. With the aid of Capt. Doyle and other officers, he let a rope ladder down the open companionway. It took for 15 minutes to get out the living.

The two seamen killed—Arthur Hasset, forty, a coal trimmer, and Pete Trippett, twenty-seven, storekeeper, both British war veterans—were buried at sea the next morning.

Work Now Picked To Succeed Fall

President Said to Favor Postmaster General for Interior Post and New for Postal Job.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—President Harding, it became known today, is considering Postmaster General Hubert Work to succeed Secretary of the Interior Fall and giving the post office berth to Senator New, of Indiana.

Dr. New is a western man and would fulfill that requirement in the selection. The President is known to entertain the highest regard for the successor of Will H. Hays and is understood to be anxious to have Senator New in his Cabinet if it is possible, without too great a wrench upon the rule barring "lame ducks."

Information the change was under consideration came in a letter in Republican House circles where members have come to regard the selection of Representative Mondell as something to which the House is entitled.

The previous offer of the Interior post to Secretary Hoover indicated the President's willingness to change things around in his official family.

The position of Dr. Work on the contested policies of reclamation and conservation are not known, although it is assumed he would lean to the position taken by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who met and overcame the opposition of Secretary Fall.

Friends of Senator Poinchener of Washington and of Governor Wallace of Montana are actively engaged in the selection of their respective candidates.

Former Gov. Campbell of Arizona, another strong contender is reported to have the support of Secretary Hoover and Senator Cameron of Arizona.

Senator Jones (Key, Wash.) was a White House caller today in interest of the appointment of Senator Poinchener, making the sixth time he has called at the White House for the same purpose.

Judge Edward Terry Sanford of the Middle Western Tennessee Judicial District was reported today to be the most likely appointee to the vacant seat on the Supreme Court bench. His appointment, his friends say would do much to answer the criticism of the South that it is being ignored in the selection of public officials.

Guy D. Goff of West Virginia, until recently special assistant to the Attorney General, is also receiving hearty support for the Supreme Court seat.

Senators Francis (Rep. Ky.) Sutherland (Rep. W. Va.) and Lenroot (Rep. Wis.) called on the President today to urge Mr. Goff's selection.

Student Explains Gruesome Find

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Jan. 8.—Mystery which surrounded the finding of portions of a human body wrapped in a newspaper dated September 22 on the Hampton Roads beach opposite the Camp Stuart site, was solved today.

The gruesome fragments—an arm, a shoulder blade and collarbone—were tonight found to be the property of R. L. Williams, a student at the Virginia Medical College.

Williams explained that he had buried the package in the sand rather than keep it at his home. He added that they were portions of the body of a negro who had been executed in Richmond last fall.

A man owned a large house, with eight smaller houses around it. (See diagram.) There were two circles of trees, as shown in the diagram. Renting out the small houses, the man wanted to keep the outer circle of trees to himself. How did he divide the land?

Yesterday's answer:
If a man sold his automobile for $200, bought it back for $100 and sold it again for $200, he made $200, as he started with $200, and had $200 at the end. Either $200 or $400 are common answers to this puzzle, but both are incorrect.

TRIBUTE PAID REP. STEDMAN

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—An unusual tribute was paid by the House today to Representative Stedman, Democrat, North Carolina, the only Confederate veteran serving in that body when he rose to make a plea for favorable consideration of a bill to permit the erection in Washington of a monument to the southern negro mammy.

The entire membership, Republicans and Democrats, cheered. Mr. Stedman for several minutes when he began and after he had praised the negro mammy of Ante-bellum days, he was given another round of applause.

The bill would authorize the Daughters of the Confederacy to erect the monument on government owned ground. Mr. Stedman painted the negro mammy as without parallel in history, and declared the erection of a monument would mark one of the few times when a people had so honored one of another race living among them.

ZIG'S ACE WINS FIELD DERBY

(By The Associated Press.)
GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Zig's Ace, pointer, owned by T. D. Brown of Tulsa, Oklahoma, late today was declared winner of the derby of the United States Field Trial Club. Phil Kessinger, owner by the Stoner Brothers of Courtland, Mississippi, was awarded second place and third was divided between the pointers Great Island Rap owned by William Zeigler, Jr., of New York and Belle of Sublimity, owned by H. F. Fellows, Springfield, Ohio.

The all-age began immediately after the derby with 25 starters. With the exception of the work of two or three dogs, the performances lacked brilliancy. The running of the event will be completed tomorrow.

CHARLES M. MINTON

Lambs Fleeced of Huge Sum

(Special to The Bee)
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—America spent $400,000,000 for fake stocks last year.

That is the estimate of Charles M. Minton, the "shepherd of Wall Street." He is head of the Minton Brokers' Investigating Bureau, and his job is to keep track of crooked brokers and stock salesmen for the big exchanges.

"The average American with a little money laid by is the biggest sucker in the world," says Minton. "Why? Easy—because they won't heed warnings. They get skinned when they holler, and when it's too late they listen to advice."

Stock swindlers are being operated in every big city, and in many small ones, he says. He declares he can name at least 150 crooked houses in New York.

"We are bigger suckers than women," said Minton. "More of them fail I mean. Women are more conservative—but when they fail they fail harder. I know one who just lost $50,000 in a fake stock deal."

"Oil stocks used to be the favorite medium for crooks. Next came mining stocks. These are pretty well played out now. New schemes are being hatched all the time. Radio is now being used to trap suckers."

"There seems to be as many clever crooks doing business as ever. It is hard to get the goods on bucket shops—the crooked brokers who accept orders and never execute them. They put your orders on their cuffs—and pocket the money."

"Most suckers are fleeced by eye-brokers selling fake stock certificates that mean nothing. They sit up rich looking offices and if they exposed they get a new sign painted and move to another office or another city."

"Another class of eye artists work in what is called a 'roller room' or telephone and a telephone directory. They have an uncanny skill at picking names out of the book, giving a swift, sure cash out of every five they call. Such a crook is known as a 'dynamiter.' His first cousin is called a 'reloader'—who loads another block of stock onto a sucker in the very face of the fact that no dividends have been paid."

"Sucker lists are used by many crook salesmen. You can go to half a dozen places in Wall Street and buy sucker lists for a cent or two cents a name, depending on the class of stock you want to unload. Every time a person answers a doubtful ad his name gets into a sucker list—and the name is sold and resold indefinitely."

"Minton has been in Wall Street 42 years and he thinks the public is getting more gullible every day."
